Schedule 1

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION WITH THE SINGLE TRANSFERABLE VOTE METHOD AND MECHANISM FOR ASSIGNING RESERVED POSITIONS FOR DESIGNATED EQUITY GROUPS WHERE MORE THAN ONE POSITION IS TO BE FILLED:

The general steps for a count of ballots are as follows:

1. Determination of reserved and eligible candidates.
2. Initial Distribution of votes.
3. Calculation of quota.
4. Election of candidates above quota or Elimination of the candidate with the lowest number of votes (subject to 1).
5. Distribution of any votes produced by step 4.

Steps 4 and 5 are to be repeated until all available positions in the election are filled or no candidates remains eligible for election.

1. Determination of reserved and eligible candidates

1. Any candidate that has withdrawn from the election or been made ineligible in some other way shall first be removed from the count. Any votes that were to be recorded in their favour shall pass at their current full value to the candidate having the next preference on that ballot.
2. Before any count can begin a determination must be made as to the number of positions that must be filled by candidates that satisfy the requirements of subclause 6.3.2 of this Constitution. For any election not enforcing reserved position requirements this step may be skipped along with any accounting for reserved positions.
 - a. For each group defined in subclause 6.3.2 of this Constitution a list of the candidates who meet those requirements shall be made.
 - b. Candidates may meet the requirements of more than one reserved position.
 - c. If less than the required number of candidates for a given reserved group is found, they must all be declared elected and any remaining deficit must be declared as vacant and a supplementary election held.

2. Initial Distribution of votes

1. For each ballot the preferred candidate shall have a vote counted in their favour at full value.
2. The order of preference of the voter shall be taken in ascending numerical order as indicated on the ballot paper. The first preference of the voter shall be the number one (1) and each successive natural number shall indicate further preferences.
3. Notwithstanding the point 2. If the intention of the voter is clear, the vote shall be considered valid. Circumstances explicitly envisaged include:
 - a. A single 'tick' for a candidate and no other marks.

- b. A single 'cross' for a candidate and no other marks.
- c. Words that unambiguously represent numbers.

The final decision on intention and vote validity shall be at the discretion of the Returning Officer.

- 4. Votes that do not indicate a clear preference for a valid candidate shall be counted and recorded in as 'informal'
- 5. Votes shall be recorded with a precision of two (2) decimal places.

3. Calculation of quota

The quota of votes that a candidate requires for election shall be calculated in the following manner:

- 1. The total number of valid votes recorded for all candidates in the election shall be divided by one more than the number of positions to be filled. The result of this division shall be increased by one and any remainder shall be discarded.
- 2. The number obtained in 3 (1) shall be recorded as the Quota for election.

4. Election of candidates above quota or Elimination of the candidate with the lowest number of votes (subject to 1)

Once step four is reached the rest of the election is the repetition of this step and step five until all positions have been filled or all candidates have been excluded.

The general procedure for the count is as follows:

Election of candidates above quota

- 1. Any candidate who has obtained a number of votes equal to or greater than the quota shall be set apart and their vote prepared for distribution.
- 2. When more than one candidate has satisfied the requirements of 4 (1) then the candidates shall be dealt with in order from the candidate having the most votes to the candidate holding the least. If two candidates have the same number of votes, then they shall be ordered in the following ways:
 - a. Whomever had the higher number of votes at any previous distribution in the election
 - b. Should 4 (2)(a) fail then the candidates shall be order by the drawing of lots
- 3. Before a candidate is declared elected and assessment shall be made of the effect their election will have on the reserved positions determined in section 1. Should the candidate's election not affect the potential to fill all outstanding reserved positions from the remaining candidates then they shall be declared elected and their votes prepared for distribution in the following way:
 - a. If a candidate's votes exactly match the quota then all of their votes shall be set aside and taken to be exhausted. They have zero (0) votes to distribute.
 - b. If a candidate's votes are in excess of the quota then a 'Transfer value' shall be calculated in the following manner:
 - i. The number of votes in excess of the quota shall be divided by the total number of votes received by the candidate.
 - ii. The precision of the transfer value shall be to the third decimal place.

- iii. The transfer value multiplied by the previous value of each vote shall be the new 'full value' of each vote.
4. The elected candidate's votes shall be distributed in accordance with section 5.
5. All Candidates to be elected by virtue of being above the quota shall be dealt with before any candidate is eliminated from the count.

Elimination of the candidate with the lowest number of votes

6. Should there still be positions to fill and no candidate meets the requirements of 4 (1), that is having reached or exceeded the quota, then the candidate with the lowest number of votes shall be set apart and prepared for elimination.
7. In the case where two or more candidates have equally few votes the order of the position shall be determined in the following ways:
 - a. Whomever had the fewest number of votes at any previous distribution in the election shall be eliminated first.
 - b. Should all other methods be exhausted the candidate to be eliminated shall be determined by drawing lots.
8. Before a candidate is eliminated an assessment shall be made of the affect their elimination will have on the ability to fill all reserved positions determined in section 1. Should the elimination of the candidate reduce the number of any potential reserved group below the number required for that group as determined in section 1 then the candidate must not be eliminated and the candidate with the next fewest votes should be dealt with in accordance with 4(6) and above.
9. If a candidate is eligible for elimination as determined in 4(8) then their votes shall be distributed in accordance with section 5 at their current full values.

5. Distribution of any votes produced by section 4

1. Votes to be transferred produced by section 4.
2. Votes to be transferred shall be re-examined. Votes shall be recorded for any candidate not yet elected by taking the next valid preference subsequent to that which generated the result in section 4. The general procedure for decided vote validity as outlined in section 2(3) shall apply.
3. When multiple candidates have reached the quota and are having their votes distributed, any candidate who has reached or exceeded quota shall be prohibited from receiving any more votes from a distribution.
4. Notwithstanding 5(3), if a candidate is raised above the quota by votes in a single distribution then they shall remain eligible to receive the entirety of the votes generated by that distribution
5. Votes shall be recorded with a precision of two (2) decimal places.
6. Once the distribution is complete the procedure shall return to section 4.
